Introduction

As a matter of fact, The Open Access Journal of Science and Technology (OAJOST) is the first peer-reviewed, open-access mega-journal of AgiAl Publishing House in the field of academic publishing, it is the first cultivated seed which we do hope to be a turning point in this industry "Academic Publishing" where we plan it to be a contributor and a participant for all those involved/interested in science, technology, and medicine in order to enrich these areas of science more than a source of profit to their owners.

Open Access

OAJOST follows the Creative Commons Attribution License (CCAL) to all papers we publish. Authors retain the copyright of their article, which is freely distributed under the CCAL, permitting the unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction of the article in any medium, provided the original work is properly cited. It is noteworthy to mention that, since the process of publishing and distribution/indexing of a particular article itself need to cover the financing of expenditures, OAJOST requires Article Processing Charges for all accepted manuscripts.

Why OAJOST?

The purpose of OAJOST is to provide an outlet for new knowledge in science, technology, and medicine. Nowadays, there are probably hundreds of this kind of journal worldwide, so why another one? This is right, but due to the observed scientific progress and increase the number of scientific researches to coincide with the emergence of many available small devices. We have seen that—since we have long experience in this industry—to deliver the scientific researches to the reader in multiple electronic formats in order to get him released from being forced that he read all that is new in science either in print edition only or electronic via a computer, this is on the one hand, on the other hand we offer this service for all those involved/interested in science with very low prices or almost free of charge, which led us to launch this journal.

The journal's editorial board and table of contents are divided into a number of subject-specific domains, however articles published in the journal may appear in multiple domains. Each article published by OAJOST will be available on the journal's website in different formats; full-text HTML, downloadable full-text PDF, full-text ePub, and mobi.

Scope

The journal publishes original research articles, review articles, clinical studies as well as case reports which can support the academic goals of the worldwide scientific community in a wide range of subjects. Also the journal fosters communication of information among scientific professors and their communities around the world, in an open access format with immediate online dissemination.

Regarding this, we are therefore grateful to the entire academic people overall the world who will contribute their articles to the first volume of the journal, and we invite every academic fellow, both local and international, to publish in our new journal.
